Three Sutton Farms to Receive Recognition

BOSTON - Representative Richard T. Moore (D-Uxbridge) has announced that three Sutton farms will be among those honored at a ceremony recognizing the contributions of family farmers in the two hundred years since the federal Constitution was adopted. The three Sutton farms are: Highloft Farm (1716), William D. King & Son, 24 King Road; Silvermine Farm, Jeffrey Cole, 96 Eight Lots Road; Third Century Farmstead (1724), David Putnam, 30 Century Farm Road.

The ceremony will be held on September 9, beginning at 11:00 a.m., at the Three County Fairgrounds in Northampton. Particular recognition will be give to those farms which have remained in the same family during all the intervening years. Here in the Commonwealth, there are forty farms which enjoy this distinction.

The event will be coordinated by the Department of Food and Agriculture, in conjunction with the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Three County Fair Association.

Planning Board discussions focus on 19 North Main Street building and Sutton Road property

MILLBURY - The Planning Board dealt with several complex issues at their August 22 meeting. Present at the meeting were Chairperson Anna Lewandowski and members Terry Burke Dotson, Lillian Moore, Arthur Moore, and Town Planner David Hulseberg.

Hayward Glen

Lewandowski informed the board that BSC Engineering has estimated that $664,100 worth of work remains to be done to complete the roadwork at the Hayward Glen development off Millbury Avenue. According to Lewandowski, the building inspector is holding five occupancy permits and will not release them until the work has been completed. Lewandowski stated that R.F. Bedard Construction, Inc., the developer of the project, does not have the money to complete the roadwork and is looking for the capital to underwrite the cost of completion. She stated, "Our only recourse is to establish a bond at that location."

Hazardous Waste Found

Town Planner Dave Hulseberg informed the Board that he has been notified by the DEQE (Department of Environmental Quality Engineering) that hazardous waste has been discovered at the site of the former Millbury High Carbon. The violation was procedural. Improper marking and handling difficulties were noted on DEQE's inspection of the property.

Carries out Campaign Promises

To the Editor:

John Houston won election to the Massachusetts State Senate four years ago, largely because of his pledge to reform auto insurance and Senate rules.

If his constituents harbor any hope that these reforms will be instituted, those hopes lie in the reelection of John Houston.

It goes without saying that, in Massachusetts politics, a freshman legislator from the 'Outback,' defined by the Pols in Boston as anyplace West of 495, set himself a difficult, if not impossible task when he served notice that he intended to carry out his campaign promises. Unheard of! Nobody does that. John Houston has. Despite a myriad of problems in his district that required his time and attention, the Senator drafted an auto insurance reform package and, through a message sent to his constituents some months ago, asked for their support. One would hope that anyone infuriated by the remand premium notices and proposed increase in rates would have made their voices heard when the bill was being considered.

John Houston has gained statewide attention because of his tireless efforts, along with strong support from voters both in and outside of his district who recognize that his is the lone voice trying to right a clearly perceived wrong.

There is little doubt that the insurance industry would welcome the defeat of John Houston. It then follows that his reelection would make the very strong point that the voters recognize his value and support him in his efforts.

When John Houston is reelected, our support must not end at the ballot box. We must turn our fury and indignation into positive political action and Senator John Houston will lead the way.

Correction

Due to incorrect information supplied to the Chronicle, last week's article on the appointment of David Hulseberg as Millbury's Zoning Agent may have left the mistaken impression that he will be the zoning enforcement officer when in fact that responsibility falls to the Building Inspector. Hulseberg will work with the Building Inspector to improve communication between the ZBA, the Planning Board, and the Building Inspector's office.

Millbury Selectmen's Meeting Digest

Board Appoints Stokowski Provisional Police Chief

By Edward J. Cooney

MILLBURY - Chairman Jude Cristo called the August 23 meeting to order at 7 p.m. with Selectmen Wynton Adams, Roland Lachance, John Donnelly, and Donald Gauthier present. Warrants were signed and minutes for the August 9 meeting were submitted for review. Administrative Assistant Earl Chase then gave his weekly report to the board.

West Main St. Fence

Chase noted that a fence in need of repair on West Main Street is the responsibility of the State and was repaired once before by them. The State will be notified.

Emergency Response Plan

- Chase reported that he and Fire Chief Tom Nault met with Linda Lecuyer of Mass. Civil Defense, to review and develop an Emergency Response Plan for the town. The plan must be submitted to the State by October 17.

Appeal Granted in Developer's Favor

- Chase informed the board that an appeal filed by Benjamin Miles, challenging certain conditions established by the Planning Board for a subdivision plan off Grafton Street, was granted in Miles' favor by the Appeals Court.

According to Chase, the ruling indicated that the Planning Board had exceeded its authority. "It could have far-reaching effects on how the town constructs its roads and how planning boards set up sub-division regulations." He went on to suggest that town counsel be asked if an appeal will be made on the ruling and also suggested that counsel review the subdivision regulations.

Adams questioned whether it would be wise to spend money on town counsel to review bylaws prior to a decision on whether an appeal will be made. "Is it appropriate and feasible to appeal to the State Supreme Court? Then we would know," Adams said.

Lachance then remarked that the state has come in the back door on affordable housing. "Where do we stand in relation to governing our own growth? We don't have a say. I think it's ridiculous," Lachance said.

Cristo told Chase to report back to the board after talking to counsel to see if he advises pursuing the matter.

Parking

- Under Old Business, Chase reported that he met with a representative from the Administration and Finance Office of the State to review the grant application for funds for the municipal parking lot on Elm Street and to view the site of the present lot in light of its proximity to downtown businesses and medical facilities. According to Chase, the state wants the updated costs which he has reviewed with Highway Surveyor Joe Chase.

Chase also told the board that he had pulled the "old" plan for the Federated Church parking lot on Elm Street and found that there is space for 28 cars.

Adams, noting that there was no money available to pursue the matter, suggested that the town complete one parking lot before embarking on another.

- At 7:15, a public hearing was held concerning New England Telephone's request for a pole relocation on Davis Road. The matter was tabled on a motion by Lachance who stepped down as selectmen, noting that he was an abutter and was opposed to the proposed plan to relocate a pole.

Representing New England Telephone, Al Trychon told Lachance that he would be wiling to meet with him at the site to review other options. The board voted 4-0-1, with Lachance abstaining.

Vacation Pay Refused by Treasurer

- Cemetery Commissioner Robert Donovan requested the board's intervention on his behalf to be paid two weeks vacation pay that was refused by Town Treasurer Dave Cofske. Donovan noted that he had been employed at the cemetery for 17 years and had been given vacation pay in the past. He also stated that other commissioners had been paid vacation time and that a precedent had been set.

Adams said that he didn't believe the treasurer had a right to hold up the vacation pay, basing his opinion on past precedent and the fact that the vouchers for the vacation pay had been signed by both the cemetery commissioners and the board of selectmen.

Adams suggested that the board ask the Treasurer to honor the warrant. Donnelly and Cristo both said that, if the Treasurer has a problem, he should come before the board.

Abandoned Cars

- At 7:30 p.m., Officer Gerard Kelley and tow truck owner Ray Lemieux appeared before the board to express concern with the disposition of abandoned cars. Kelley noted that, with the closing of Patriot Metals, Lemieux, who does the towing for the town, was finding it difficult to dispose of abandoned cars. He cited the fact that Lemieux has to pay for the disposal of cars, which could cost him up to $50 per car.

Lemieux noted that he could not afford to do the business without receiving payment for disposing of the cars. It has become a serious problem, according to Kelley and Lemieux.

After several minutes of discussion, Adams moved to seek advice from town counsel on how to set up a fund to pay the cost of disposing of abandoned cars when owners either don't pay or are not known. The board approved on a 5-0 vote.

Acting Chief Ronald Stokowski, who was present at the meeting, stated that a more stringent bylaw might help in alleviating some of the problems.

Asa Waters Mansion

- Returning to Old Business, Chase reported that the columns needing replacement are now in place at the Asa Waters Mansion.

Adams suggested that something was overlooked in the specs relating to a walkway that was removed. He suggested that a work order change be negotiated to allow laying of blue stone. Donnelly suggested that Chase check with the contractor to negotiate a change, noting that a credit could result.

Adams also reported that on a recent weekend two windows were left open in the kitchen area at the mansion. Chase said that he had contacted the Director of the Council on Aging and others concerning the situation. Adams also noted that the vans have been parking in the handicap area.

Millbury Ave. Reconstruction Project

- Chase reported that Paul Larosa, engineer for the Millbury Ave. Reconstruction Project, has informed him that he feels that he can bring costs of the project into line by lowering quantities.

Cristo expressed concern with the effect the proposed changes might have on state reimbursements. When told that Larosa had not spoken with the highway surveyor, Cristo said, "The Highway Surveyor should have a handle on what he (Larosa) is doing."

Donnelly suggested that Chase, "find out what he (Larosa) is going to negotiate. Check with Joe Chase and get back to us."

ZBA Appointee

- At 7:45, the board interviewed Cheryl Hennigan on her application to serve as an alternate on the Zoning Board of Appeals. Hennigan stated that she has been a Millbury resident for 2 1/2 years and formerly was involved in the sale and purchase of real estate. She noted that she was interested in public service and thought she could help the town. The board approved her appointment unanimously.

False Alarm Fees

- Returning to Old Business, the board discussed Fire Chief Tom Nault's request for fees for recurring false alarms attributed to businesses or individuals. Lachance, at the last meeting, questioned the applicability of fees, citing false alarms attributed to "burning toast" that have occurred on numerous occasions at the elderly housing complex on Elm Street.

Each facility will be notified before the fees take effect. "They would be advised and given fair warning," Adams said. The fees would be applied after the first incidence of false alarms and continuing reoccurrences.

Adams moved to approve the fee schedule submitted by Nault. Lachance seconded for discussion purposes, and suggested that the matter be tabled until the Fire Chief is present for further discussion.

Donnelly then remarked that the situations at the Elm Street complex alluded to by Lachance were legitimate calls.

The board approved the motion to approve the fees on a 4-0-1 vote, with Donnelly abstaining.

Dog Complaint

- At 8:30 p.m., a public hearing was held on a dog complaint filed by Ms. Bratiotis of Sycamore Street. A similar complaint was signed and presented previously to the board last year.

Bratiotis stated that she had filed the complaint based upon frequent incidents of two dogs barking during the late hours of the night. The dogs are owned by Barbara Iannicchieri of West Main Street. Bratiotis said that she had notified the dog officer who indicated he could not respond at the late hours. The police were also called on numerous occasions, according to Bratiotis, as, in her opinion, the dogs were disturbing the peace.

Mr. Iannicchieri explained that many episodes of the dogs barking were due to stray dogs and cats passing through the yard. He said that the dogs were penned in the yard but were brought in every night. He did say that there were occasions when both he and his wife were not home when the dogs may have done some barking.

The board took the matter under advisement.

Later in the evening, the board voted 4-1, with Lachance abstaining, to require that the dogs be brought into the house from sundown to 7:30 a.m.

Youth Commission

- Returning to Old Business, it was noted that two individuals have expressed an interest in serving on the Youth Commission: Mary Clark and William Brady.

Office Trailers

- Chase was told to check on the right of private contractors to place office trailers in a public way. Adams comments were pointed at a con-

Recital to Feature Songs Composed by American Women

WORCESTER - Songs written by American women composers and published between 1790 and 1890 will be performed by soprano Mary Sindoni at a recital at the American Antiquarian Society, Worcester, at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, September 27. The recital, entitled "Parlor, Music Hall, and Church," is open to the public free of charge.

The program for this recital has been drawn from Ms. Sindoni's research in the American Antiquarian Society's extensive collection of sheet music published in America before this century. Present in the collection are some 60,000 pieces of instrumental, vocal, secular, and religious music by both American and foreign composers that were printed through 1880 in the United States. In the course of her research, she examined dozens of compositions by American women and has selected from this material a program for performance that draws on many of the genres popular in the period: sentimental songs, military and Civil War songs, songs carrying the message of temperance or abolitionism, hymns, and bel canto arias. Some of these songs were published anonymously or under such pseudonyms as "A Lady from Baltimore" and "A Lady from Virginia." Others were by then well-known composers such as Jane Sloman and Faustina Hodges. Several were "hit songs" in their day and sold thousands of copies.

Susan Bishnov, piano, will be the accompanist.

Mary Sindoni is a professional singer and voice teacher. She is a graduate of Swarthmore College and holds a master of arts degree in musicology from Boston University and a master of music degree from the New England Conservatory of Music. She has taught at Southeastern Massachusetts University, the Performing Arts School of Worcester, and Anna Maria College. She has given recitals, performed as a soloist with orchestras and choruses, and sung with opera companies throughout southern New England.

Ms. Sindoni specializes in introducing to the public little-known works by women composers. In this vein, she has recorded an album for AFKA Records of songs of Alma Mahler and Juli Nunlist.

Ms. Sindoni's recital and her research at AAS have been supported in part by the Massachusetts Arts Lottery, as administered by the Worcester Cultural Commission.

The American Antiquarian Society is a learned society and research library specializing in all aspects of American history and culture through 1876. It holds the strongest collections of early American printed material in the world.

a variance to construct a driveway on property owned by the Stafinski family on Alpine Street. The Planning Board had denied the application because of inadequate frontage.

19 North Main Street

Michael J. Venincasa came before the board for an informal discussion on a building under construction at 19 North Main Street. The building is located between the Millbury Baptist Church and Apple Drug.

Venincasa told board members that the Building Inspector suggested he come before the board to receive their input.

Lewandowski noted that no formal application was ever filed with their office. "You have not formally come before us with any plan. We would have to have a filing before we can make any decisions."

Venincasa replied, "I was not aware you needed a plan unless it was a non-conforming use."

Board member Terry Burke Dotson then said, "It was a non-conforming use to start with."

Venincasa explained that his original plan was to use the building for retail space on the first floor and to house eight apartments on the other two floors. The new plan calls for retail space on the first floor, six offices on the second floor, and two apartments on the third floor. The original structure had housed a retail establishment on the first floor and two apartments on the second floor.

The ensuing discussion revolved around whether or not the developer was restoring the building to its original use. Venincasa argued that the building was the same and consequently, "We can do what we're doing." His argument was based on the fact that the building has the same footprint as the original structure, only the use is different.

Lewandowski asked, "Isn't that where the discrepancy lies? We were talking about putting the building back to its original use. The discrepancy lies in the fact that this is not putting the building back to its original use."

After some discussion, which pointed out that the developer had added a story that was not previously there, wanted to put offices on the second floor which were not previously there, and wanted to place apartments on the third floor rather than on the second, it was decided that Venincasa should meet with the town planner to study the by-laws pertinent to this structure.

In closing the discussion, Lewandowski said, "I would say now that a building has gone up without going through the proper channels."

On Wednesday, August 25th, Michael Venincasa met with town planner, David Hulseberg. (See accompanying article on that meeting, following the planning board report.)

Notidis Special Permit

In other business, Spiro Notidis, of 3 Dolan Road, Millbury met on his application for a special permit to add one dwelling unit at 2-4 Sutton Road to an existing two family dwelling.

During the initial discussion, is was discovered that the dwelling unit in question has already been completed and rented out.

Present to speak in opposition to granting the Special Permit was Joseph Brady of 129 West Main Street, whose property abuts the building. Brady told the board that a check with the building inspector's office revealed that no building permits were ever issued to construct the third floor apartment. In addition, Brady said that the owner has never secured electrical or plumbing permits.

According to Brady, "We didn't complain when they added to the building with no building permit; we didn't complain when he built a utility building four feet from our lot; and we didn't complain when they started selling motor homes, but we're here to protect our property value and the owner should be penalized for violating all of the rules."

Brady, who noted that his family has occupied the 129 West Main Street residence for 97 years, stated, "It's a great neighborhood but it's gone downhill since the ZBA granted a variance for the pizza restaurant." Brady was referring to the Royal House of Pizza which sits on land owned by Notidis at the corner of Sutton Road and West Main Street, next to the apartment building for which Notidis was seeking the special permit. According to Brady, "When the ZBA granted the permit we knew we were in for trouble. It's gotten so bad I'm not going to sit back and live with it."

Brady's daughter, Jane Pojani, also complained about the area around the pizza business. "The swimming area is polluted with items from the pizza place. The property is a mess."

Planning Board secretary Joan Raymond, who lives on Sutton Road, also spoke up in defense of Pojani's statements: "Everything is very messy. Cars are parked all over the place." She also maintained that the pizza establishment was "messy inside."

Notidis defended the pizza house, stating, "It's not as bad as they make it sound." He also noted that he does not run the pizza business.

Brady also suggested that the Planning Board check with the Board of Health to determine if any complaints have been lodged against the pizza business.

The board continued the hearing until September 12 at 8:00 p.m., to allow the members to inspect the site.

After conducting the business for the evening, the board went into executive session to discuss pending litigation.

Builder to Seek Variances and Special Permit for North Main Street Building

MILLBURY - Millbury's Town Planner, David Hulseberg, met on August 25 with Michael Venincasa, President of M.J. Casa Development Trust of Sutton, to discuss plans for a building under construction at 19 North Main Street. The 2,752 sq. ft. building, located between the Millbury Baptist Church and Apple Drug, is situated on a 4,755 sq. ft. lot, zoned Business I.

Venincasa met with the Planning Board on August 22 to discuss his proposal. At that time, Planning Board Chairman Anna Lewandowski suggested that Venincasa meet with Hulseberg to go over the by-laws pertaining to his property since some confusion had arisen over the intended use of the building.

At the August 22 meeting, Venincasa explained that his plans included retail space on the first floor, six offices on the second floor, and two apartments on the third floor. Hulseberg stated that Venincasa revised his Monday night plans when it was pointed out that, according to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Regulation 521 Section 11.1, all commercial buildings require handicap access. This would mean that Venincasa would have to construct an elevator for the facility.

Venincasa's revised requested use is for retail/commercial space on the first floor and eight apartments on the second floor, with a bedroom and bathroom for each apartment to be located on the third floor.

Venincasa began his construction earlier this year and was served a Cease and Desist order by

WIT AND WISDOM

- Many can argue, not many converse.

- Nothing can overtake an untruth if it has a minute's start.

- True words are not always beautiful, beautiful words are not always true.

- For better or worse, our reputation depends mainly on what people say about us behind our backs.

- There was a man who hadn't kissed his wife in 10 years - then he went out and shot a guy who did.

On The Shelf

By Rosemary Waltos

People who write in to many of the question and answer newspaper columns are amazing. They spend all that time and effort (and a twenty five cent stamp) to do what they can do with a simple phone call to their public library. Most of the time their questions can be answered by library staff over the phone. If they can't wait, you can bet they will receive a return call with the answer from the library by the end of the day.

All it takes is a few minutes of culling through the reference logs at the Millbury Public Library to realize the wide range of questions that MPL staff field each day. These questions range from trivia to research questions and everything in between. Answers to these questions are given using the resources in the library's collection. If the answers aren't in our collection (and sometimes they aren't), the library staff can usually find them by contacting other library and information sources.

Recently, the library has received its share of questions concerning presidents past and present. Here's a sample of some of these questions that the MPL staff have fielded so far during the presidential campaign season, and the processes and sources that go into the answers.

Q. Who was Barry Goldwater's vice presidential running mate in 1964?

A. It was easy to find that William E. Miller was Goldwater's running mate by consulting the 1988 WORLD ALMANAC. It was harder to find any information about Miller, not knowing that he dropped out of the political scene after the 1964 election. However, in CURRENT BIOGRAPHY 1962 we found a picture of Miller, and in the 1983 volume of CURRENT BIOGRAPHY we found a good capsule of his political life. He was described as an "orthodox, articulate, and frankly partisan Republican...with a gift for stinging words." He served in the House of Representatives from 1951 to 1964 and was Chairman of the Republican National Committee from 1961 to 1964. He retired from politics in 1964. William E. Miller was born in 1914 in Lockport, New York, and died in June, 1983.

Q. How did the Republicans adopt the elephant as their party symbol? How did a donkey come to symbolize the Democratic Party?

A. Thomas Nast, the popular 19th century illustrator/political commentator for Harper's Weekly gets the credit for popularizing both the Republican and Democratic party symbols, according to the 1988 WORLD BOOK ENCYCLOPEDIA. The Democrats became attached to the donkey during the 1828 presidential campaign when Andrew Jackson's opponents called him a "jackass." Later, Nast used the donkey in several of his cartoons to depict the Democrats, and by 1880 the donkey was commonly associated with the party.

The Republican symbol, the elephant, first appeared in an 1874 cartoon by Nast in Harper's Weekly. In this cartoon, he used the elephant to depict the post Civil War Republican vote.

The 1988 WORLD BOOK ENCYCLOPEDIA includes Nast's cartoon with the Republican and Democrat mascots.

Q. What does G.O.P. mean?

A. Everyone on staff knew what G.O.P. meant, but it was documenting it that had us stumped. All the reference sources we commonly use did not answer this simple question. It was finally the Gale publication ACRONYMS, INITIALISMS AND ABBREVIATIONS, v. I, that stated that G.O.P. means Grand Old Party (Republican). As an aside, we also found out that G.O.P.A.L. means Grand Old Party Women's Action League.

Q. Who is Leslie Lynch King?

A. A far cry from the name that we know our 38th president by - Gerald Ford. This information was found in PSEUDONYMS & NICKNAMES DICTIONARY, 2nd ed.

Q. Who is "Lemonade Lucy?"

A. This was a tough one to find since all we knew was that "Lemonade Lucy" was a president's wife. We found the names of all the First Ladies, including Lucy Ware Webb Hayes, in the 1988 WORLD ALMANAC. From there we started consulting a variety of other sources including biographical dictionaries. We finally found the reference "Lemonade Lucy" in THE PRESIDENTS OF THE UNITED STATES. Lucy Ware Webb Hayes was the wife of Rutherford B. Hayes, a "transplanted New Englander of Puritan stock." She was given the nickname because she was the only First Lady as of 1881 who refused to serve alcohol in the White House.

Q. When is the John F. Kennedy Library open to the public, and how do you get there?

A. THE OFFICIAL MUSEUM DIRECTORY lists the John F. Kennedy Library-Museum hours at 9-5 daily. It is located at Columbia Point, Boston. Using THE NEW CHAMPION MAP BOOK FOR THE BOSTON AREA or THE RAND McNALLY ROAD MAP, the directions to the museum are: take the turnpike into Boston to the Southeast Expressway, following it to and onto Columbia Circle. Follow Columbia Circle to Mt. Vernon Street. The museum is off Mt. Vernon on Columbia Point. For more information, call the museum at (617) 929-4500.

For answers to your questions, remember, the Millbury Public Library is only a phone call away at 865-1181 (Source: New England Telephone NYNEX Yellow Pages).

the Building Inspector. At that time, Paul LaCava, spokesman for M.J. Casa stated in a phone interview with the Chronicle, "We went under good faith and the information that was supplied (to us) by the town. Eight apartments is the permit that we received. The first floor was to be retail space and the others apartments. We approached the bank and financed the project on the right to build eight units and retail space. Now we're 50% complete and we're told that we can't complete it." (The building permit on file at the town hall does state approval for "eight units.")

The Town Planner explained at that time that there was a misinterpretation of what constituted a "unit" when the permit was granted and accordingly, the cease and desist order was issued.

Hulseberg stated that permitted business use would be allowed according to zoning regulation 24.3, and the building would conform to lot stipulations if all of the tenants were businesses. However, in that eventuality, the building would still not conform to the parking regulations and would have to be served by an elevator. The 24.3 regulation states that a building with dwellings must have the following:

Minimum Lot: 12,500 sq. ft.,
Minimum Lot Frontage: 100 ft.
Front and Side Yards: 25 ft.
Rear Yard: 10 ft.
Maximum Lot Coverage: 30%
Maximum Height: 30 ft.

The Venincasa building has:

Lot: 4,755 sq. ft.
Frontage: 40.15 ft.
Front and Side Yards: Front yard 6" and Side Yards 2 ft. and 8 ft.
Lot Coverage: 57.88%
Height: 30 ft.

In addition, in Article 3, Section 33, Parking and Loading Requirements, section 33.2 stipulates that for non-residential use, access to public parking would have to be 200 feet from the public entrance.

Because the building is not built according to these specifications it is a non-conforming building which is not permitted within a Business I zone. Hulseberg explained, "If he had built just two stories and built it back to 75% of its value, he (Venincasa) would have maintained the non-conforming status of the pre-existing building provided that the uses and number of units were the same," and he would not have had to seek a special permit or variances.

According to Hulseberg, following the August 25th meeting Venincasa stated that he would seek variances and a special permit to have a multi-family dwelling in a business district. "Up to two family dwellings are permitted, but three or more (dwellings) require a Special Permit," Hulseberg said. "Even if the Zoning Board approves all the variances, he (Venincasa) must come before the planning board for a special permit," he added.

The only other alternative, according to Hulseberg, would be for Venincasa to remove the third floor, lower the roof to the second, and return the building to what it was used for previously.

New Zip Code for Sutton?

SUTTON - On Friday, August 19, several Sutton town officials, including members of the Board of Selectmen, met with officials from the Worcester area office of the Post Office. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the long sought-after issue of having a Sutton Post Office and zip code.

It appears that this may finally come to fruition. The proposal of the post office officials, it was emphasized, will not affect the service residents are presently receiving.

The following is a basic outline of the proposal.

- The present post office in Wilkinsonville will become the main post office for Sutton. Sutton will inherit the "01590" zip.
- There will be NO change in the services provided now in either the Manchaug or Wilkinsonville Post Offices.
- It was emphasized that these will both continue in operation providing the same level of service to which customers are now accustomed.
- The rural mail routes now being handled by Millbury (01527) will be handled from the Sutton (01590) Post Office in Wilkinsonville.
- Those postal patrons who now have a zip code of 01527 will use the new Sutton zip code of 01590.
- For the present time, patrons whose mail is handled through Whitinsville, Uxbridge, or East Douglas will continue with the same zip code.

The Board of Selectmen will hold an informal hearing at its meeting on Tuesday, September 13, at 8:00 p.m. at which officials of the postal service will be present.

Interested persons are invited to attend. They may ask any questions about the postal services' proposal at that time.

Proposed Development Could Increase Sutton Population by nearly10%

By Terry Barnicle

SUTTON - The Sutton Planning Board met on Monday, August 22, with Chairman Craig Ferrell, and members Dave Suhl and Kris Oliver present. The following items were among those discussed:

Mingolla Development

At 8:00 p.m., the board heard an informal presentation by Edward Mingolla, President of Pleasant Valley Corp., and his development team. The proposal concerned a Limited Density Residential Development for the construction of homes and an expansion of the golf course at Pleasant Valley Country Club. It was stated that the project, which may begin as early as April 1989, would take approximately eight years to complete.

The $50 million residential/ golfing community is slated to contain 240 attached residences and an additional nine holes of golf to be built on 200 acres, 43 of which are under an option to purchase from M.J. Casa Development of Worcester and Sutton. The 27-hole golf course, residences, recreation areas and woodland preserve, will cover over 400 acres of land, situated along Rte. 146 and Boston and Armsby Roads. The homes, four to a building, will be arranged in 6 clusters and will be priced upwards of $250,000. Each will contain 1600-2000 sq. ft. plus a one or two car garage. Construction could begin as early as April, 1989.

Mingolla stated that they want to be "protective" of Pleasant Valley. "I don't want to prostitute the land," he said.

R.H. White Construction Co., a 65-year old Auburn firm, will be the main contractor for the project. David White, company vice president, referred to the town as a "partner" in the project and encouraged input from residents and officials. He also stated that an agreement has been made with the Wilkinsonville Water District for the water needs. White said that water and sewer service will be extended to the site by a 6/10-mile underground pipe. He is planning to connect to the Town's sewerage system, and, according to White, the current system's capacities will accommodate the addition.

Next, Bill Pressley, of William Pressley and Associates, Inc., landscape architects of Cambridge, Mass., discussed site considerations using an elaborate model. Pressley stated, "I've been all through the woods and know them well. We will try to develop a plan for the site that keeps the present character of the land: open fields at the periphery, wetlands, and ponds." He also said that the wetlands have been surveyed and that 100' setbacks will be provided, as required by law. A 150' buffer will be created around the site. Pressley also said that the roads will not be owned or maintained by the town.

Finally, Barbara Decelles Evans, of Suburban Market Concepts of Franklin, Mass., marketing analysts, presented information on home styles and economic impacts. She explained that they will be two-bedroom homes and that preliminary projections indicate the development will yield Sutton in excess of $350,000 per year in net tax revenues, after costs. "Residents will be 493 active, mature adults with only 34.5 children," she said.

A formal presentation of a preliminary design will be submitted to the board within the next two months.

Following Mingolla's presentation, a number of site plans and ANR's were addressed.

Southwinds

The board approved a revised site plan submitted by John Gosselin for property located on Route 122A across from the fire station. The building currently houses a craft shop and one apartment. Gosselin's plans call for the addition of three stores on the first floor and two apartments on the second. At their August 8 meeting, board members suggested that Gosselin make provisions for increased parking. Gosselin's revised plan shows additional parking spaces created by changes in the plans for the addition.

Site Plan at Burnap Industrial Park

The board approved Jack Virgilio's site plan for Lot #8 at Burnap Industrial Park, at Deborah Drive, to erect a building which will contain three truck bays and a small office.

John Road

The board released the bond for John Road in Burnap Industrial Park because it is partially complete and has been inspected by the town engineer.

Epco Fab, Inc.

The Board approved a site plan of Epco Fab, Inc., of Burnap Industrial Park, for the erection of an 8,000 sq. ft. building for metal fabrication operations. The approval is contingent upon provisions that lighting will not annoy neighbors and that runoff will be intercepted before it reaches the street.

Planning Board Vacancy

A vacancy currently exists on the Planning Board. Anyone interested in serving on the board is asked to contact the town hall.

DEADLINE

The deadline for all submissions to the Millbury-Sutton Chronicle is 12:00 noon on Saturday of the week prior to publication.

Men's Slowpitch Softball Team off to West Virginia

MILLBURY - Over the Labor Day Weekend, the Millbury Merchants Men's Slowpitch Softball Team will be in West Virginia where between 150 and 175 of the nation's best slow pitch teams will compete in the World Tournament.

The Millbury Merchants qualified by winning the St. Charles Open Tournament held in April. At that time, they were known as the Millbury Savings Bank team. Last weekend, they competed in the New England Regional Tournament USSSA Class D tournament held at Fort Devens; 58 teams representing all of the New England states competed. The Millbury Merchants came in first having won all seven of their games. Now it is on to West Virginia to finalize their triumphs.

Team members would like to thank all the merchants who have underwritten the team's expenses.

Six artists will display their work: painters Bryan Davagian of Charlton, Peter Nelson of Boylston, and Amy Singer of Shrewsbury, and photographers Krisanne Carnovale and David Saul of Worcester, and Peter Faulkner of Grafton. These artists were chosen by juror Judy Bowerman, who reviewed the work of over 70 artists represented in the Cultural Assembly's slide library. Ms. Bowerman teaches and resides in Springfield, Mass.

"Common Ground" will continue through November 6. The Cultural Assembly Gallery is open from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., Monday through Friday, and from 1-4 p.m. on Saturdays.

struction site area on Latti Farm Road at the Millbury Industrial Park off Rte. 20. He suggested that the office trailers should be placed on private property.

Proposed Sutton development draws concerns over sewerage

- Lachance brought up an item pertaining to a newspaper account of a proposed development at Pleasant Valley. The article stated that water and sewerage for the development would be serviced by Sutton.

Lachance noted that the article stipulated that the services would be supplied by the Wilkinsonville District, which pumps its sewerage to the Millbury Sewerage Treatment Plant on Rte. 122. Both Lachance and Cristo expressed concern that at some point in time the sewerage treatment plant would reach capacity and some sections of the town would not have access to sewerage because of the flow of sewerage from Sutton into the Millbury plant.

Donnelly added that town of Millbury should be taken care of first.

All-America Cities Award

- Cristo then turned the meeting over to Adams, who presented the board with a plaque in recognition of Millbury being named one of the 11 Blackstone Valley towns receiving the All-America Cities Award.

Adams presented Cristo with a framed proclamation from Governor Dukakis, a resolution from the House of Representatives, and the plaque, all of which will be displayed in the town hall.

Police Department Business

- At 8:30 p.m., the board met with Acting Police Chief Ronald Stokowski, who was present to request that two positions be filled in the Police Department, one due to the retirement of Officer Walter Sprague. The board accepted Sprague's resignation on a 5-0 vote after being presented his letter of resignation by Stokowski. The other position to be filled was the one vacated by Stokowski in his change of position to Acting Chief.

Stokowski asked the board to request a civil service list for replacement of the two positions. He noted, for the board's information, that the overtime account for fiscal year '88-'89 has been depleted by $10,000 since July 1st. There is $25,000 remaining for this fiscal year.

Stokowski indicated that one of the vacancies could be filled immediately by a candidate who has already passed the patrolman's exam. According to Stokowski, the candidate has had police academy training, which would allow for immediate hiring. Stokowski said the second position may take longer to fill as the candidate, if accepted, would require Police Academy training before being put into daily work of a patrolman.

After several minutes of discussion, the board approved adding three additional patrolmen on the police department, with the hope that some of the overtime account would not be as readily used. It was noted by Stokowski that money was already in the budget for two positions.

The original motion by Adams was for appointment of one replacement officer and one new position. It was amended to two new positions on a 4-1 vote, with Lachance opposed. The original motion was then passed on a 5-0 vote with the stipulation that funds for a 3rd position be sought at a special town meeting.

Request for Support on Clearing Title

- At 9:00 p.m., the board heard a request form Attorney Larry Salem for the board's support and approval to move ahead on clearing a title concerning property originally owned by Stoneland Realty that was taken by tax title by the town and resold to another individual. The land in question is located on Overlook Drive.

The board approved his request on a 5-0 vote.

Stokowski Appointment

- The board then met again with Chief Stokowski and the discussion centered on negotiations for hours to be worked. Stokowski expressed concern with a 9-5 work day, Monday through Friday, stating that it would be too restrictive and not take into account that he, as Acting Chief, would be involved with police work during other shifts and on weekends.

The board agreed to allow more flexibility in Stokowski's work schedule. The board also approved, on a 5-0 vote, a clothing allowance for Stokowski.

On a unanimous vote, Stokowski was then appointed as Provisional Chief of Police, to be effective on September 1.

Following the appointment, the board voted to provide a cruiser for the Chief's use on a 5-0 vote. Stokowski will be paid at a base salary of $38,000.

and finally...

- At 10:15, the board moved to items of new business and approved the following before adjourning:

1. seasonal bids for the Highway Department.

2. a special license for the V.F.W. on August 28, for a benefit for Charles "Chuck" Vassar.

3. a corporate change name of Ballard Motors, Class I License Holder, to Ballard Mack Sales and Service, Inc.

The board also signed the inn holder's license for the St. Charles Hotel and signed a Council on Aging formula grant.

HERE 'N THERE / BITS 'N PIECES

By Joe Morin

HI, FRIENDS! Glad to be back with you - lots to talk about, so let's get down to business!

"The Last Temptation of Christ" - a lot has been written and said about this "controversial" film, but, in my opinion, the following says it all...

"...does freedom of expression require that every concept be explored; must every idea, no matter how bizarre and abhorrent, be articulated? Not merely expressed, but turned into a silver screen extravaganza? Is it essential to the furtherance of religious inquiry that Hollywood concoct a sex life for Jesus?

"...reasonable limits, self-imposed, are not the same as censorship. The boundaries should be set by decency and sensitivity to the deeply held sentiments of our neighbors.

"...Christians are the only group Hollywood can offend with impunity, the only creed it actually goes out of its way to insult.

"...why stop at abusing Christians? Now that Hollywood has determined to enter the business of debunking sacred symbols, every faith can become a target for exploitation.

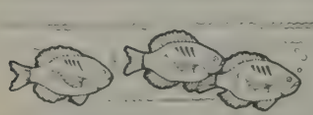
"...As a Jew, I doubt I can be accused of sectarian bias in the controversy at hand. I do not believe in the divinity of Jesus Christ. I do believe in respecting the faith of those who regard him as their saviour. Calls for Hollywood to exercise responsibility and a bit of charity are not the equivalent of censorship."

Don Fender
The Boston Herald

AND NOW, back to things of this Earth! We heard that if you all want to live a long, long time, you must do the following: stay home, eat whole grains and vegetables, breathe through a mask, boil your water, avoid making close friends, have a complete medical checkup twice a year, see your dentist twice a year, and avoid strain and loud noises. Good Grief! Is that living?

COCHONS! A platter was set out on the deli counter at Goretti's on Grafton Street, crabmeat on cracker sample snacks. A lady approached the counter and grabbed several for her and her husband, who was standing across the way. Evidently it made a hit with them, they circled around, did more shopping, came back to the deli counter, and amassed all those that were left! Cochons! I know, I was there. I missed out! I wasn't fast enough....

I DUNNO! It's going to be a tough one to figure out! Who to vote for? Do you vote for the one whose state is in a fiscal mess? Do you vote for the other who, in my opinion, made his first blunder by appointing that "kid" as V.P.? I dunno! Lot out there feel the same way....



A FISH STORY! Scotty Williams of Grafton went a fishin' recently. He had in mind to "ketch the big 'un!" He threw in a line that was fitted with a frog lure. A tug on the line - could this be the famous "Sam Bass," the "big 'un?" Nope, it was Frenchy the Frog he caught. Yupp! A frog, seeing the lure, made a pass for it and took off! Nice going, Scotty!

FAIT ACCOMPLI! The lines are in, the road is bump-free. It took a lot of time and effort, worn out shocks, tires, but Millbury Avenue is looking good! Praise the Lord! But will it last? More digging on tap? Lord, please spare us....

PEEWEE SALUTE of the month has got to go to that bozo from Dallas. He had a Rolls, California beach house, European spas, $5 million in art, corporate jets, entertained politicians. He embezzled over $1.3 billion from his bank. And guess who has to bail him out and pay the depositors? WE DO! The Federal Savings and Loan Association. THAT'S US! The #@$! (expletive deleted!)

A MEGABUCKS winner told his wife to pack for a trip. She wanted to know if she should pack for a "warm" or "cold" climate! He said: "I don't care, but I want you out of here by 5 p.m." Good Grief!

HOW ABOUT THAT! We have Megabucks! We have MassMillions, now we have Megatickets! Something else to enrich the State coffers! In a way, those high speeding fines are a blessing to those who follow and adhere to the speed limits. But those who run afoul of the law will have to pay the Piper, i.e. the state, in huge speeding fines. I was wondering why there has been such a slowing down of cars recently, everybody seems to be watching the speedometer and their wallets. The highest speeding fine paid so far amounted to $700 bucks. So watch it! They're out there to getcha! I suppose that's one way to replenish the state coffers. What's next? (Now I know there is one thing the Pols haven't thought of taxing. I'm not going to tell you what it is, but we use it every day and it comes in a roll. Imagine the tax on that, say 2 cents a sheet! They wouldn't dare! Don't tell 'em!)

QUESTION TIME: why is it that the price they advertise on TV for a muffler will invariably cost you much more before they are through with you.

Why is it we Americans, with all our ingenuity and know-how, can't manufacture a vacuum cleaner that REALLY works?

How come with all those sweepstakes letters and promos that have been pouring into mailboxes (junk mail) we've never heard of a local winner?

Why is it that the bozo who crawls 1.5 miles an hour for miles in front of you suddenly lurches forward to 50 mph to beat the red light?

Why is it that it's always millionaires running for the presidency! Don't we have any "Po Folks" out there just as smart? Sure we do, but they need the dough to get started, that's all.

A BUGABOO! Shortly after he was escorted to his hotel room, the guest noticed a dead roach on the floor. He called the desk clerk and raised hell. The clerk replied, "Don't worry about a dead roach; he can't bother you." Retorted the guest, "The dead one doesn't worry me; it's his damned pallbearers." Good Grief!

WELCOME ABOARD, SHARON! Another friend/reader/subscriber has joined the Chronicle bandwagon! We're glad to have you with us. Sharon, (Warren and Jean's Pet) of Millbury, heard about the paper and this column through a mutual friend. We ask you Sharon, please, pretty please, don't let Missy use our column for "doo-doo". After all, a little respect for the written word. In the canary cage, o.k. Glad to have you with us. Spread the word. Nice picture of Missy you sent us.

"DON'T KEEP the Faith! Spread it!" reminds Bishop Harrington to his CFP readers in a recent column. "Holy Joes" and "Holy Josephines" are transparent. People see right through them. People know that actions speak louder than words. Example is the best teacher. People will judge us by "who" we are, more than by "what" we say. Right on, Bishop Harrington!

BITS 'N PIECES - The best spuds I've tasted in a long time are called "California All-White." Good when mashed, terrific when fried. Try 'em, you'll like 'em!...MRS. BUD'S chicken pie seems to be running out of the chicken. Lots of peas and carrots, but the question remains: "Where's the Chicken?"...MICKEY MANTLE, remember him? Said he was cured from crippling arthritis by taking a new drug he helped test called "Voltaren," which is widely used in Europe as a leading arthritis treatment. The Food and Drug Administration is considering giving it the go-ahead sign shortly in the colonies here (if not already)...ZAYRE on Grafton Street seems to be going downhill recently. Items scattered all over, here and there. No effort really made in cleaning it up. Tough to get assistance when needed! Need a road map to find items on sale. Clerks are overworked and underpaid...WORD OF CAUTION! Before you contract for outside work on your home, be sure the contractor is insured. Make sure he shows you a "Certificate of Insurance." It could save you headaches in the long run...THE DUKE is going to the White House, he's leaving us in the Poor House. What's this about a carpenter being hired to build a "High Chair" for the Duke for the Oval Office Desk? I don't believe it. You're pulling my leg!

ALL RIGHT NOW, Me Friends, time to sign off 'til next time. Here's wishing you all everything that is good. Share a smile with a friend, hug those you love, give thanks to God for your blessings. I Bid You Peace!

Your Friend,
Joe Morin

Houston Receives "Friend of Children Award"

BOSTON - The Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children (MSPCC) has bestowed a "Friend of Children Award" on State Senator John Houston (D-Worcester), who represents Worcester, Leicester, Millbury, Sutton, Grafton, Upton, Northboro, Westboro, Hopkinton, and Hopedale.

"As Chairman of the Joint Committee on Human Services and Elderly Affairs for the Senate, he has developed a legislative agenda that calls for an investment in human survival and opportunity. Senator Houston has translated his commitment to improving the quality of life for all citizens of Massachusetts into strong and outspoken leadership in the campaign for Health Care for All and in the movement to close the gap between family benefits and family needs," the MSPCC said.

Upon receiving the award, Houston said, "I am pleased and honored that the MSPCC would choose to recognize my work in this way; the American economy is changing, straining the resources of working families. Much of this stress falls on children as their parents struggle to hold down several jobs, provide child care, and look after their aging parents. State government must be sensitive to these responsibilities and find creative new ways to help out."
